30th FIELD ARTILLERY (Hard Chargers)

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, two barrulets wavy between a mullet and a lindwurm passant or.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, in front of a bank of clouds sable a tower of the first with three windows of the second above a cross of the third.
- Motto:* Striving to the Highest.
- Symbolism:* The field is red for artillery. The barrulets wavy symbolize the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, the North Star indicating service in the Aleutian Islands and the lindwurm (a German dragon) representing service in Europe.

The crest refers to service of an element of the regiment in Germany during the critical years between 1951 and 1957. The tower stands for strength and vigilance and is also the symbol of St. Barbara, patroness of artillerymen. The cross is taken from the arms of the city of Bonn, capital of the Federal Republic of Germany, which an element of the regiment stood ready to defend. The black clouds refer to the threat of war that hung over Europe during those years.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Per chevron gules and barry wavy of six argent and azure, in chief a kittiwake volant proper above a kris fess wise of the second, in base a bronze bell of the fourth.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a pheon sable enflamed of the first and second charged with an escallop argent issuant from a bronze howitzer proper between at base six golps fesswise.
- Motto:* In Periculo Nos Jubete (When in Danger, Command Us).
- Symbolism:* Scarlet is the color used for field artillery. The kittiwake, a gull associated with the Aleutians, and the kris, representative of the Pacific islands, are symbolic of service in Korea. The blue and white wavy bars are indicative of the organization's amphibious operations. The howitzer symbolizes field artillery.

The enflamed pheon, alluding to the quadrant, an instrument for measuring altitude, refers to the hills of Korea and the intensive devastating and accurate barrage lay down during March 1953. The six grapeshots symbolize six of the engagements in which the organization participated during the Korean War. The escallop or sea shell refers to the Pacific area and the organization's service in World War II.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, a bordure compony argent and azure.
Crest: On a wreath of the colors, argent and gules, a demi-sun in splendor triparted barwise or, tenne and gules.
Motto: Proud Americans.
Symbolism: The shield is red for artillery. The bordure is in the colors of a corps distinguishing flag to indicate corps artillery.

The demi-sun symbolizes service on the West Coast and, as a rising sun, also represents the origin of the regiment on the East Coast.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield, crest, and motto of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, a lion dormant or armed azure.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, two arrowheads vert issuing palewise, another sable issuing likewise from within a crescent overall of the first and surmounted by a lion guardant of the like armed and langued of the second.
- Motto:* Servabo Fidem (I Will Keep Faith).
- Symbolism:* The colors red and yellow are associated with artillery. The lion, though depicted asleep, is said to sleep with its eyes open (though they appear to be shut) and is thus “ever on guard” and ready for any emergency and action.

The three arrowheads refer to the unit’s assault landings in Algeria French Morocco, Sicily, and Normandy, the green arrowheads referring to two awards of the French Croix de Guerre for action at Kasserine Pass, Tunis, and the Normandy landing. The crescent alludes to Tunis and the lion to Normandy.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

34th FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, in front of a truck wheel or a 155-mm. howitzer projectile of the first, that part on the field fimbriated of the second.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, between the horns of a crescent of the second fimbriated of the first a torch in pale sable enflamed proper, overall an estoile of seven rays of the first.
- Motto:* We Support.
- Symbolism:* The red shield and its charges indicate the character of the regiment. The flaming torch alludes to the unit's participation in Operation Torch in North Africa during World War II.

The crescent, adapted from the flag of Tunisia, alludes to the unit's completion in four days of a 777-mile motor march over mountainous terrain of that country, and the seven-pointed star denotes the unit's participation in seven campaigns in Europe and Africa.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Per bend or and gules two bendlets wavy azure (celestial) and of the first between lion rampant of the second and a dolphin counter-embowed of the first.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a mountain with five peaks azure (celestial) bearing a bezant charged with a roundel barry wavy of six of the first and second surmounted by a sword-breaker palewise of the first.
- Motto:* On the Minute.
- Symbolism:* Scarlet is used for artillery. The lion, taken from the arms of Belgium, refers to the unit's actions in the Ardennes-Alsace campaign and at Elsenborn for which it was cited by the Belgian Army. The two wavy bands, representing the Rhine and Naktong rivers, stand for the unit's combat service in the Rhineland and in Korea. The five waves of the blue band refer to its participation in five World War II campaigns. The dolphin stands for Korea, which is bounded on three sides by the sea. It refers particularly to the unit's participation in breaking through the Pusan perimeter after retreating nearly to the sea.

The crest commemorates the action of the unit at Hongchon, Korea, for which it was cited for extraordinary heroism in helping to suppress the Chinese Communist forces in their offensive of May 1951. The roundel with yellow and red wavy bands represents the human tide of the Chinese assault. The sword-breaker, a medieval weapon, refers to the destruction of enemy military power at Hongchon. The mountain represents Korea's mountainous terrain. The five peaks allude to the five unit decorations awarded the organization for service in the Korean conflict.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, issuing from base a phoenix or rising from flames proper.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, in front of a cloud argent an isosceles triangle sable and a war mace palewise the staff counterchanged and the head with six spikes azure charged with a crescent of the first all surmounted in base by four arrowheads in pile conjoined at the point gold.
- Motto:* Celeritas in Conficiendo (Speed in Action).
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery. The fabulous bird, the phoenix, symbolizes the reactivation and restoration of the organization.

The war mace, from the arms of Colmar in northern France, commemorates the organization's most distinguished war service. The head of the mace is blue in reference to the color of the Presidential Unit Citation streamer awarded for that action. The six spikes of the mace stand for the organization's six unit decorations. The crescent alludes to the location of the unit's first service under fire—Algeria–French Morocco. The four arrowheads are for four assault landings. The cloud and the radiating arrowheads simulate a burst of artillery fire. The black triangle represents the armament area in North Korea known as the "Iron Triangle" during the Korean War. It commemorates the organization's action in that locality.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, a dexter arm embowed in armor, the upper part in fess grasping a Lochaber axe fesswise or.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, in front of a mound vert a fleur-de-lis azure within a chain of five broken links forming an oval opened at the top of the first.
- Motto:* All for One.
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery. The arm in striking position signifies the readiness of the organization.

The five broken chain links symbolize the unit's five World War II battle honors. The fleur-de-lis refers to the area of Europe where it fought in World War II. The color green alludes to hope and liberation.

41st FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, a bend barry of eight argent, of the field and azure repeated, overall a broad arrow or.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, argent and gules, a four headed wyvern without wings of the first scaled azure and armed and langued or grasping a mace silver with seven spikes gold charged with a roundel parti per pale gules and vert.
- Motto:* Mission Accomplished.
- Symbolism:* The bend, from the coat of arms approved for the former 41st Coast Artillery, and the broad arrow from that of the 41st Field Artillery Battalion, symbolize the consolidation of these two units. The bend carries the eight bars of the old Hawaiian flag and arms indicating the service of the old 41st Coast Artillery in the Coast Defenses of Honolulu. The broad arrow was used in the coat of arms of the 41st Field Artillery Battalion to symbolize the celerity of movement and shock of impact.

The four heads of the wyvern refer to the unit's four spearhead attacks in World War II. Blue and white are the colors of the shoulder sleeve insignia of the 3d Infantry Division to which the unit was once assigned. The mace and the red and green colors, from the arms of Colmar, France, refer to the unit's distinguished action during the capture of that city for which it was awarded unit decorations. Red, green, and white, the colors of the national flag of Italy, allude to the organization's action at Anzio.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

73d FIELD ARTILLERY (Thunderbolts)

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, a lightning flash in bend or.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, issuant out of a snow-bank two cubit arms proper grasping the halves of a spear broken chevronwise of the first; pale wise overall a caltrop azure in front of two smaller caltrops, one to dexter and one to sinister, bendwise and bendsinisterwise, respectively, both gold.
- Motto:* Speed and Power Always.
- Symbolism:* The scarlet is for the field artillery, the gold lightning bolt is symbolic of the speed and power of the armored artillery.

The design of the crest alludes to the 73d Armored Field Artillery Battalion's participation in the 1944 winter counteroffensive of the Germans and is symbolized by the caltrops (military devices used to impede and delay the movements of the enemy). The two smaller caltrops allude to St. Vith and Echternach and the larger to Bastogne, the latter being colored blue in reference to the Presidential Unit Citation awarded the battalion for its role in the defense of Bastogne. The snow refers to the severe winter during the period the battalion made its heroic and historic stand against the German attack. This action blunted the German counteroffensive and is symbolized by the two arms breaking a spear.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield of the coat of arms.

75th FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, in chief a lizard statant or.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, three cannon barrels, muzzles adjoining at the top of the first, the outer ones charged with a gunstone, the center one with a taeguk proper.
- Motto:* Paratus Facere (Prepared to Do).
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery, and the gold lizard represents the origin of the 75th Field Artillery in the state of Alabama, once known as the “Lizard State.”

The cannon barrels denote the artillery heritage of the organization, and three are used to refer to the widely separated land areas where the unit served. The outer barrels represent World War II and participation in the Aleutian Islands and Po Valley campaigns. The center one and taeguk refer to the Korean War, and together with the gunstones symbolize the unit’s participation in four campaigns, with the taeguk also denoting the award of the Republic of Korea Presidential Unit Citation.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, five fleurs-de-lis, three and two, or; on a chief dove-tailed of the last a prickly pear cactus proper.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a mount vert supporting a falcon proper.
- Motto:* En Garde (On Guard).
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery. The yellow dovetailed chief symbolizes the formation of the organization from cavalry. The cactus indicates service as cavalry on the Mexican border. The five fleurs-de-lis signify the five major engagements in France in World War I as artillery.

The crest is taken from the arms of Montfaucon, as most of the 77th Field Artillery was there when the armistice was signed.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Party per fess and gules, a fess dancette ermine. On a canton sable an orle of the first.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a boar's head proper.
- Motto:* Toujours L'Audace (Always Brave).
- Symbolism:* The dual character of the regiment is shown by the colors of the field, yellow for cavalry, red for artillery. World War I service is indicated by the fess which is based on the arms of ancient Brittany and the arms of Vannes where the unit served. The canton refers to the coat of arms of the 11th Cavalry, from which men were transferred to form the 22d Cavalry, predecessor of the present regiment.

The boar's head, from the arms of the Oglethorpe family, closely identified with Georgia, the state in which the unit was organized, is an ancient symbol of hospitality.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, a cross or, quarter voided of the field. In dexter chief on a canton ermine an orle sable.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a cannon of the first in saltire with a cavalry sabre argent hilted or and surmounted by a demi-pegasus rampant of the last winged of the third.
- Motto:* Libertas Justitia Humanitas (Liberty, Justice, Humanity).
- Symbolism:* The 23d Cavalry was organized at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, by transfer of men from the 11th Cavalry in June 1917, and in November of the same year it was converted to field artillery. This is shown by the colors of the shield and wreath. The regiment served in Brittany in World War I; this is indicated by the ermine canton. The black line within the border of the canton is taken from the arms of the 11th Cavalry.

The crossed cannon and sabre of the crest also denote the regiment's conversion from cavalry to field artillery.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, on fess wavy argent an artillery projectile in pale point down sable; on a canton or, a dragon passant tenne.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, argent and gules, a Pegasus courant or langued and unguled of the second.
- Motto:* Can or Will.
- Symbolism:* The field of red is for artillery. The 82d Field Artillery was organized in 1917 as the 24th Cavalry from personnel of the 1st Cavalry, and the dragon on the canton is from the arms of the 1st Cavalry. The first hostile shot fired by the regiment was across the Rio Grande in clearing Juarez, Mexico, of the Villistas during 15–16 June 1919. This is shown by the projectile on the wavy fess.

The crest symbolizes horse artillery, occasionally known in times past as flying artillery.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Party per chevron or and gules, a chevronel azure between in sinister chief a Cheyenne war bonnet and in base a grizzly bear passant both proper. On a canton tenne a dragon passant of the first.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a bison statant argent.
- Motto:* Flagrante Bello (During Hostilities).
- Symbolism:* The shield is yellow for cavalry and red for artillery. The blue chevronel denotes the regiment's short period of service overseas during World War I. The Cheyenne war bonnet refers to the birthplace of the organization in Wyoming. The bear, from the crest of the state of California, commemorates service in the 8th Division at Camp Fremont, California. The canton represents the regiment's formation as the 25th Cavalry by transfer of men from the 1st Cavalry (formerly the 1st Regiment of Dragoons) in 1917.

The crest also symbolizes the birthplace of the regiment.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, on a saltire or a winged spur of the first.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a crescent of the first, a fountain within a chevron raguly sable overall, and issuant therefrom a fleur-de-lis gold, the outer leaves in base conjoined to the crescent.
- Motto:* Performance Above All.
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery. The saltire is taken from the state flag of Alabama, the birthplace of the regiment. The winged spur signifies that the unit was formerly mounted.

The two Presidential Unit Citations awarded the organization during World War II are symbolized by the crescent for French Tunisia and the raguly chevron from the bridgehead at Remagen. The irregular upper edge of the chevron alludes to the attempted destruction of the Ludendorff bridge by the retreating enemy. The fountain is used to represent the organization's action along the Meuse River, and the fleur-de-lis symbolizes the unit's action in the Ardennes.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules on a pile or, between two lions rampant respecting each other of the last, a shell burst proper.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Vermont Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a buck's head erased within a garland of pine (all proper).
- Motto:* Hic Murus Aeneus (This is a Brazen Wall).
- Symbolism:* Scarlet is for artillery. The gold pile is representative of the entering wedge driven into enemy territory by the fire of the organization, which is illustrated by the shell burst. The motto alludes to the "brazen wall" formed by an artillery barrage, i.e., "curtain of fire."

3d Battery, Vermont Light Artillery, organized 23 November 1863 at Burlington and mustered into Federal service 1 January 1864 at Burlington; mustered out of Federal service 13–15 June 1865 at Burlington.

1st, 2d, and 3d Batteries, Vermont Light Artillery, reorganized 22 November 1867 in the Vermont Volunteer Militia as a battery of light artillery to consist of three sections with Headquarters at Springfield. Reorganized 27 November 1872 as a section of light artillery at Northfield (Norwich Cadets). Reorganized 11 April 1877 at Brattleboro as the Vermont Light Battery with a section at Northfield (Norwich Cadets). (Vermont Volunteer Militia redesignated in 1894 as the Vermont National Guard.) Vermont Light Battery (less section at Northfield) disbanded 10 August 1899 at Brattleboro; section at Northfield (Norwich Cadets) continued as a battery of field artillery.

Norwich Cadets expanded, reorganized, and redesignated 19 November 1907 as Battery A, Light Artillery, and Company A, Signal Corps.

Battery A, Light Artillery, and Company A, Signal Corps, consolidated, converted, and redesignated 1 January 1911 as the 1st Squadron, 1st Cavalry. 1st Squadron, 1st Cavalry, mustered into Federal service 24 June 1916 at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont. Disbanded 19 July 1916 at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont.

Vermont Light Battery reconstituted 3 July 1946 in the Vermont National Guard as the 206th Field Artillery Battalion and assigned to the 43d Infantry Division. Organized and Federally recognized 3 April 1947 with Headquarters at Burlington. Ordered into active Federal service 5 September 1950 at home stations. (206th Field Artillery Battalion [NGUS] organized and Federally recognized 30 December 1952 with Headquarters at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont.) Released 15 June 1954 from active Federal service and reverted to state control with Headquarters at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont; Federal recognition concurrently withdrawn from the 206th Field Artillery Battalion (NGUS). (Location of Headquarters changed 1 January 1955 to Winooski.)

Reorganized and redesignated 1 March 1959 as the 124th Artillery, a parent regiment under the Combat Arms Regimental System, to consist of the 1st Howitzer Battalion, an element of the 43d Infantry Division. Redesignated 1 February 1964 as the 86th Artillery and reorganized to consist of the 1st Battalion, an element of the 86th Armored Brigade. Reorganized 1 February 1968 to consist of the 1st Battalion, an element of the 50th Armored Division. Reorganized 1 June 1975 to consist of the 1st Battalion. Reorganized 1 May 1980 to consist of the 1st Battalion, an element of the 50th Armored Division. Reorganized 1 June 1988 to consist of the 1st Battalion, an element of the 26th Infantry Division. HERALDIC ITEMS

- Shield:* Gules, a pallet rompu or, in sinister fess a dexter mailed clenched fist, coupé at the wrist proper.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, argent and gules, a castle of the first with entrance arch sanguine and two turrets enflamed proper the battlements between the turrets supporting a Rose of Sharon also proper and in base a bow fesswise sable with drawstring or armed with a fire arrow point up palewise enflamed all proper.
- Motto:* Brave Cannons.
- Symbolism:* Scarlet and yellow are the colors used for artillery. The mailed fist symbolizes the armored attack of the organization.

The fire arrow hurled from an arbalest, an early artillery weapon, symbolizes the mission of the regiment. The shape of the bow further alludes to the Battle of the Bulge in which the unit participated. The flames refer to the fire support provided in the Normandy invasion for which it was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation. The arrow further alludes to its assault landings, and the medieval castle traditionally represents the areas in which the unit fought during World War II: Belgium, France, and Germany. The Rose of Sharon (the Korean national flower) symbolizes service in Korea for which the unit was awarded the Korean Presidential Unit Citation.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Per chevron gules and or, issuant from base a guisarme in pale proper.
- Crest:* On a wreath, argent and gules, issuing from four flames of fire proper, a lion passant gardant or, armed and langued azure, charged on the shoulder with an annulet of the last surmounted by a lightning flash of the second the dexter paw supporting a lance of the first floutant to sinister there from a banner the upper third extended to form a streamer of the like bearing an escutcheon parti per pale of the second and fourth.
- Motto:* Flexible.
- Symbolism:* The shield is divided scarlet and yellow, scarlet being the artillery color and yellow the color of artillery markings. The guisarme, a weapon used in ancient times to reach the enemy behind the defense, symbolizes the operations of the organization.

The crest commemorates the unit's combat action in World War II and subsequent service in Germany with the United States Constabulary. The lion is taken from the arms of Normandy where the organization initially contacted the enemy. The flames of fire refer to the four decorations awarded during World War II. The scarlet and blue shield, taken from the arms of Bastogne, and the white color of the banner, alluding to snow, refer to the organization's participation in the rescue of Bastogne in heavy snowfall during the Ardennes campaign. The banner is of a type frequently used in Europe in the Middle Ages. The annulet and lightning flash, simulating the insignia of the United States Constabulary, allude to the unit's postwar service in Germany.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, on a saltire azure fimbriated or between a castle, a rattlesnake coiled to strike, and a fleur-de-lis of the third, and in base a battle-axe argent, eight mullets of the last.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Pennsylvania Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a lion rampant guardant proper holding in dexter paw a naked scimitar argent, hilted or, and in sinister paw an escutcheon argent on a fess sable three plates.
- Motto:* Gettysburg to the Marne.
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery. The blue saltire represents Civil War service of an element with the Federal forces, and the white stars the engagements during that war. The castle, taken from the Puerto Rican Occupation Medal, denotes service of an element in the War with Spain, the coiled rattlesnake Mexican border duty, the fleur-de-lis overseas service during World War I, and the battle-axe, a medieval weapon in common use in the Europe, symbolizes combat service in Europe during World War II.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Per chevron debased azure and gules, two chevronels argent, upper charged with an annulet between a mascle and a cross patée all of the first, the lower charged with a keystone of the second; in chief a fasces or charged with the letters “NG” palewise sable, and in base a lion rampant of the fourth.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Pennsylvania Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, argent and azure, a lion rampant guardant proper, holding in dexter paw a naked scimitar argent, hilted or, and in sinister paw an escutcheon argent on a fess sable three plates.
- Motto:* Non Sibi, Sed Patriae (Not Self, But Country).
- Symbolism:* The shield is blue to indicate that a previous regiment of the same number was organized originally as infantry; red indicates the field artillery service during World War I of that regiment. The fasces is taken from the original emblem adopted by the previous organization when it began as a company of infantry in 1840. The three charges on the upper chevron represent the three Corps badges as worn during the Civil War: the annulet, I Corps, 2d Division; the mascle, III Corps, 2d Division; and the cross patée (described during the Civil War as a “Maltese Cross”), V Corps, 3d Division, Army of the Potomac. The upper chevron is representative of the Potomac River, the lower chevron of the Marne. The keystone is the shoulder sleeve insignia of the 28th Infantry Division. The rampant lion is for the service of the former 108th Field Artillery under the command of the King of Belgium during World War I.

111th FIELD ARTILLERY (First Virginia Artillery)

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, two pallets argent, a saltire azure fimbriated of the second, overall a fleur-de-lis or.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Virginia Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, argent and gules, Virtue, the genius of the Commonwealth dressed as an Amazon, resting on a spear with one hand and holding a sword in the other; and treading on Tyranny, represented by a man prostrate, a crown falling from his head, a broken chain in his left hand and a scourge in his right, all proper.
- Motto:* Nunquam Non Paratus (Never Unprepared).
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery, with the two vertical white stripes, thus suggesting the battle streamer for the War of 1812. The blue saltire edged with white is for service in the Confederate States Army in the Civil War. The gold fleur-de-lis is for service in France in World War I.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Per chevron, or and gules, on a pale counterchanged between in chief two fleurs-de-lis of the second, a castle in base azure.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Tennessee Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, upon a mount vert a hickory tree proper charged with three mullets one and two argent.
- Motto:* Ever on Call.
- Symbolism:* A chevron symbolizes support, the chief mission of artillery, and the pale signifies strength; together they indicate “support with strength.” The red divisions of the shield represent the batteries of the regiment and allude to firepower. The yellow divisions symbolize three periods of combat: World Wars I and II and the Korean War. The castle from the Spanish flag represents Manila and is for the Philippine Insurrection. The infantry color, blue, is used to denote that the regiment was originally constituted as infantry and served as such in that campaign (blue and red are the colors of the Philippine Insurrection ribbon). The two fleurs-de-lis represent service in Europe during World War I and World War II and are red to indicate artillery.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive insignia consists of the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

- Motto:* Viam Praeparamus (We Prepare the Way).
- Symbolism:* The baptism of fire of this regiment occurred in the Toul Sector; this is represented by the canton, the arms of Lorraine. The silver badge of the 2d Division, I Corps, during the War with Spain is displayed in sinister chief. History shows that for a great many years the district around what is now the city of El Paso, Texas, was known as Ponce de Leon's ranch, having been settled and colonized by a group of the followers of that explorer and who named their new home after their leader. The lion issuant is, therefore, taken from Ponce de Leon's crest to denote service on the Mexican border at El Paso, Texas.

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, on a pale or the shoulder sleeve insignia of the 32d Division (a red arrow having shot through a line) proper, between six fleurs-de-lis of the second.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Wisconsin Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a badger couchant proper.
- Motto:* Catervae Ferreae (Of the Brigade of Iron).
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery. The three divisions of the shield produced by the yellow or gold pale charged with a red arrow signify that the organization was in Federal service three times between 1880 and 1945 and served as part of the 32d Division during World War I; the six fleurs-de-lis, three charged on each side of the pale, representing the engagements in which the regiment participated. The motto indicates that the 121st Field Artillery includes in its personnel a great many descendants of the members of the Iron Brigade of the Civil War.

134th FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, on the dexter arm of a saltier azure fimbriated or three alerions argent.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Ohio Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a sheaf of seventeen arrows argent bound by a spring of buckeye (Aesculus glabra) fructed proper (two leaves with bursting burr).
- Motto:* Fides et Audax (Faithful and Bold).
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery. The saltier represents Civil War service and is blue to indicate that the service was with the Union forces. The three alerions are taken from the arms of Lorraine to denote World War I service in that Department. This coat of arms was also used by the 135th Field Artillery indicative of the common history shared by both organizations.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, a chief embattled azure, and in base two palm trees proper, on a pile inverted throughout argent, a broad arrow point to base of the second.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Indiana Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a demi-lion rampant argent holding in dexter paw a laurel branch vert.
- Motto:* Arma Pacis Fulcra (Arms Are the Supporters of Peace).
- Symbolism:* The embattlements refer to the castle walls of Europe and the organization's service in World War I. The inverted pile simulates a cyclone, a sobriquet for the 38th Infantry Division to which the unit was assigned. The palms allude to the unit's service in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater during World War II, with participation in the New Guinea, Leyte, and Luzon campaigns. The arrow denotes the assault landing on Luzon, and the colors blue, white, and red refer to the Philippine Presidential Unit Citation awarded the unit.

142d FIELD ARTILLERY (Second Arkansas)

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Or, on a pile gules between six gunstones pilewise above a Korean taeguk proper, a lozenge of the first bearing a fleur-de-lis of the second.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Arkansas Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, above two sprays of apple blossoms proper, a diamond argent charged with four mullets azure, one in upper point and three in lower, within a border of the last bearing twenty-five mullets of the second.
- Motto:* Try to Stop Us.
- Symbolism:* Scarlet and yellow (gold) are the colors used for artillery, and a gunstone is symbolic of a missile. The fleur-de-lis refers to the unit's service in France during World War I. The pile alludes to an arrowhead and with the fleur-de-lis represents the unit's assault landing in Southern France during World War II, the gunstones symbolizing the unit's participation in six other campaigns in Europe. The taeguk refers to the First UN Counteroffensive campaign in the Korean War, and the gunstones are again used to denote the six other Korean War campaigns. The lozenge simulates a diamond and refers to Arkansas, denoting the Army National Guard of the state.

- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Indiana Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a demi-lion rampant argent, holding in dexter paw a laurel branch vert.
- Motto:* Arms for Support.
- Symbolism:* Scarlet and yellow are colors used for artillery units. The Philippine sunburst symbolizes the organization's Philippine Presidential Unit Citation and alludes to the unit's World War II campaign participation at New Guinea, Leyte, and Luzon. The blue area, suggested by the state flag of Indiana, also represents the many lakes and streams of the area. The arrow symbolizes the Indian heritage of the state and the unit's mission of field artillery. The heraldic saltier alludes to Indiana's motto "The Crossroads of America."

- Shield:* Gules, three Indian arrows, one in pale and two in saltier or, overall a circular buckskin shield of the second, bearing a sunburst of the like, issuing sixteen rays argent, tipped sable, charged in the center with a Korean taeguk (scarlet at the top, blue at base) surmounted by a gold fleur-de-lis.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Oklahoma Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and azure, an Indian's head with war bonnet all proper.
- Motto:* Eyes of the Artillery.
- Symbolism:* The three arrows symbolize the three assault landings at Sicily, Naples-Foggia, and Southern France by elements of the regiment. The arrows with the buckskin also symbolize Oklahoma's Indian heritage, a depiction of a buckskin shield is found on the state flag of Oklahoma. The sunburst design, a favorite Indian symbol, alludes to the unit's mission to provide general target acquisition, survey, and meteorological support to the artillery in a corps. The sixteen stylized rays symbolize the battle honors of some elements of the organization, the fleur-de-lis represents the service of elements of the regiment in Europe during World War II, and the taeguk alludes to the participation in the Korean War by elements of the regiment.

- Shield:* Per fess dancette gules and or, in base a bar gemel azure, overall a pale of the second charged in chief with a fleur-de-lis of the third and in base with a palm tree of the like.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Montana Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a fleur-de-lis, the middle leaf and tie or, and outside leaves argent.
- Motto:* Mission with Honor.
- Symbolism:* The colors red and yellow are used for artillery. The pale represents the Flathead Valley in which Kalispell, the headquarters of the former 639th Field Artillery Battalion was located; the points refer to the Kootenai Mountains to the west and the Swan Mountains to the east. The fleur-de-lis represents service in France during World War I, the palm tree service in the Pacific during World War II. The points also simulate arrowheads, which, with the upper two blue stripes, represent the organization's two assault landings. The lower stripes are for the other two battle honors. The infantry blue used for the stripes alludes to the unit's service as infantry during World Wars I and II.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, on a fess wavy or, between in chief three besants, the dexter charged with a barred arrow, the sinister with a fleur-de-lis, both of the first, and the middle with a lion rampant sable, and in base a pale wavy of the second, a heraldic rose of the field garnished gold.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Oregon Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a demi disc gules charged with the setting sun with twelve light rays or (the shoulder sleeve insignia of the 41st Division), behind a beaver sejant proper.
- Motto:* Per Angusta ad Augusta (Through Difficulties to Things of Honor).
- Symbolism:* The colors red and yellow are used for artillery. The barred arrow—the insignia of the 32d Division—is used to represent combat service during World War I and appears on the coat of arms of the 147th Field Artillery, as the unit was then designated. The fleur-de-lis symbolizes combat service in France and Central Europe during World War II. The lion rampant—in the reverse colors of the coat of arms of Belgium—refers to the Battle of the Bulge for which the unit was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation (Army). The wavy fess and pale are used to indicate the juncture of the Willamette and Columbia Rivers; the rose alludes to Portland (the “Rose City”), home area of the regiment.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Per chevron gules and or, in base a fleur-de-lis above a Norman castle of the first, windows and keyhole of the second.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Pennsylvania Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a lion rampant guardant proper, holding in dexter paw a naked scimitar argent, hilted or, and in sinister paw an escutcheon argent on a fess sable three plates.
- Motto:* Spirit, Speed, and Stamina.
- Symbolism:* Red and yellow are used for artillery organizations. The chevron partition line signifies support and attack. The fleur-de-lis is for combat service in France during World War I, and the Norman castle for combat service in Europe in World War II. The castle particularly refers to the assault landing in Normandy, the success of which “opened” France and the continent to invasion.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, a bend archy in the colors of the rainbow proper; on a canton or a saltier gray.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Virginia Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, "Virtue, the genius of the Commonwealth, dressed as an Amazon, resting on a spear with one hand and holding a sword in the other; and treading on Tyranny, represented by a man prostrate, a crown falling from his head, a broken chain in his left hand and a source in his right" all proper.
- Motto:* Prepared to Defend.
- Symbolism:* The shield is red for artillery. The gray saltier represents the Civil War service of the Danville Grays as Confederate troops, the saltier being placed on a gold canton to comply with the heraldic rule of not placing color on color. The bend archy is in the colors of the rainbow, denoting World War I service with the 42d Division.

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, two bars gray fimbriated or, in chief three mullets of the second fimbriated of the third.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the New York Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, the full rigged ship Half Moon all proper.
- Motto:* Paratus et Fidelis (Ready and Faithful).
- Symbolism:* The shield is that of George Washington modified by reversing the colors, using gray piped with gold instead of silver, and giving a red shield for artillery. The arms of the “Father of Our Country” are not to be borne by any organization, and the shield of the regiment is modified accordingly. The reason for this selection is that is a tradition that one company of this regiment paraded as an escort to General Washington on the occasion of his inauguration as President on 30 April 1789, and in commemoration of that event, assumed the name of “Washington Greys,” which it has borne to this date. It was then an artillery organization and used gray uniforms.

300th FIELD ARTILLERY (Powder River Regiment)

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, five fleurs-de-lis or, one, three and one, on a chief embattled azure fimbriated of the second, a demi-sun issuant of the like.
- Crest:* That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Wyoming Army National Guard: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, an American bison statant proper.
- Motto:* Powder River.
- Symbolism:* The red shield and the five gold fleurs-de-lis are for artillery service in France. The chief is blue for infantry service in the Philippines. The gold sun recalls both Far Eastern service and the shoulder sleeve insignia of the 41st Division. The parting line is yellow for cavalry, and the line is made embattled recalling the fighting record of the old organization. The motto has been the battle cry and catch word of the regiment from its earliest days through three wars.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

319th FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

Shield: Gules, on a bend of three fleurs-de-lis azure, in sinister chief three columns and arch of the second.

Crest: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, in front of two arrows in saltier points up of the first flighted azure a pair of wings conjoined in leure of the first, feathers shafted of the second, charged at center with a torteau and supporting a fleur-de-lis with center petal of the last and outer petals vert fimbriated gold surmounted by a lion's face affronté of the like.

Motto: Loyalty.

Symbolism: Scarlet and yellow are the colors used for artillery. The three fleurs-de-lis represent the three major engagements in which the regiment participated while in France during World War I; the three columns and arch are taken from the state seal of Georgia, the birth place of the unit and where it received its early training.

The wings signify the airborne heritage of the unit, the feathers with red shafts referring to participation in the war in Vietnam; the red disc alludes to the scarlet streamers of the Meritorious Unit Commendation also awarded for service in Vietnam. The arrows denote two assault landings in World War II; the blue feathers refer to four Presidential Unit Citations, two for World War II and two for Vietnam. The fleur-de-lis in red and green alludes to the colors of the French Croix de Guerre awarded three times for service in France. The lion's face, suggested by the gold lions in the arms of Belgium and Holland, connotes awards of the Belgian Fourragere, Military Order of William, and Netherlands Orange Lanyard for service in World War II.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

320th FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, on a palmetto tree eradicated or a Lorraine cross azure.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and pules, issuing from two pairs of wings conjoined, elevated, and addorsed argent a lozenge of the like bearing a four-bastioned fort one bastion to chief parti per pale gules and azure charged with a lion's face gold.
- Motto:* Volens et Potens (Willing and Able).
- Symbolism:* The shield is scarlet for artillery; the palmetto tree, representing South Carolina, alludes to the district where the unit was organized after World War I. The Lorraine cross represents service in World War I.

The design of the crest commemorates three of the unit's especially noteworthy actions in World War II: the amphibious assault at Maori, Italy; the glider assault into Normandy; and participation in the battle of the Bulge. The two pairs of wings from the arms of the province of Salerno, where Maori is located, refer to that action and the unit's service as a glider unit in World War II. The lion's face, alluding to the arms of Normandy, stands for the assault into that province. The fort represents Bastogne and the white background the snow-covered terrain of the Battle of the Bulge. The red and blue vertical division of the fort is taken from the arms of Bastogne; the bastions overlooking four directions refer to its strategic location at the crossroads of major lines of communication. The red, white, and blue color combination of the design also alludes to the unit's war service with the "All American" division, the 82d Airborne Division.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

321st FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

Shield: Gules, two lion's paws and forelegs issuing out of the dexter and sinister base points chevron-ways or.

Crest: On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a cannon barrel palewise sable winged argent behind a lion sejant affronte with two heads addorsed of the first armed and langued azure grasping in each forepaw a round of the third and surmounted by an escutcheon per pale gules and of the fifth an annulet argent, on a chief of the like three fleurs-de-lis azure.

Motto: Noli Me Tangere (Don't Tread on Me).

Symbolism: The shield is scarlet for artillery. The lion's paws are significant of field artillery, which may be likened to a mountain lion whose paw has great strength and power in felling and crushing a victim. The lion with one head facing forward and the other backward, brandishing a round in both directions, refers to the organization's claim to have been the unit of the 101st Airborne Division to fire the first and last rounds on German soil during World War II.

The winged cannon stands for the former designation of the organization as a glider field artillery battalion and to its assignment during World War II to the 101st Airborne Division. The red and blue escutcheon is from the arms of Bastogne; the annulet represents the enemy encirclement of that objective and refers to the unit's distinguished action in its defense during World War II. The three fleurs-de-lis stand for the organization's participation in three campaigns in France during World War I.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

333d FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, three pallets or, each charged with three projectiles palewise of the first, on a chief of the last, a fleur-de-lis of the first.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, a demi-lion rampant sable armed and langued azure bearing on the shoulder an escutcheon parti per pale of the second and fourth within a bordure argent and grasping a sword-breaker with five barbs gold.
- Motto:* Three Rounds.
- Symbolism:* In the scarlet and gold of the field artillery, the functions of the organization are illustrated by the stream of projectiles, and even grouping indicates the ability of the regiment to perform within narrow limits and that the honors of the regiment mount with each action. The numerical designation is indicated by the three shells on each of the three vertical pales, the service in France of World War I being symbolized by the fleur-de-lis.

The lion, from the arms of Belgium, bearing the red and blue shield from the arms of Bastogne, commemorates the action for which the 969th Field Artillery Battalion was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation. The white border around the shield represents the encirclement of that city by the enemy and also refers to the snow-covered terrain of the Battle of the Bulge. The sword-breaker was a medieval weapon with barbs or teeth which admitted the sword, but prevented its withdrawal. It represents the breaking of the military power of the enemy in Europe. The five barbs stand for the unit's participation in five European campaigns in World War II.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

377th FIELD ARTILLERY

HERALDIC ITEMS

COAT OF ARMS

- Shield:* Gules, an open parachute attached to a cannon floatant across a flash or.
- Crest:* On a wreath of the colors, or and gules, on a mound vert a griffin, the lower part of the first and the upper part including wings argent, holding in the dexter talons a trident bend-sinisterwise azure, the tines impaling a fleur-de-lis of the first, the shaft terminating in an arrowhead of the fifth enflamed tenne and the sinister talons resting on the top of a shield per pale gules and azure within a bordure argent.
- Motto:* Firmiter et Fideliter (Steadfastly and Faithfully).
- Symbolism:* The scarlet of the shield is for field artillery. The floating parachute with the cannon attached is symbolic of the airborne function of the organization.

The griffin is a fabulous animal, half eagle and half lion. The eagle portion alludes to the organization having served with the 101st Airborne Division (Screaming Eagles) in World War II and the lion portion to England, where it underwent training and from whence it “took off” for its air assault drops on Normandy and the Netherlands. The trident refers to Operation Neptune which launched the invasion of Normandy symbolized by the fleur-de-lis and which, impaled on the tines, also alludes to the Normandy airdrop. The arrowhead with flames of orange (the Netherlands national color) refers to the airdrop on the Netherlands. The red and blue shield, suggested by the coat of arms of Bastogne, refers to the gallant defense of Bastogne and has been “surrounded by” a border in allusion to the town being surrounded by the enemy and is white to simulate snow, the action having taken place during winter. The green mound refers to the Rhineland campaign and southern Germany.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

- Symbolism:* The field of the shield is red strewn with fleurs-de-lis for the 106th Antiaircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion's service and many battle honors awarded in World War II as artillery. The two blue pallets are for service as infantry in the War with Spain and World War I, credit for which came from the consolidation in 1921 of this organization with the 138th Machine Battalion (formerly 3d Battalion, 3d Regiment of Infantry). The ancient history, i.e., Mexican War and Civil War, is represented on the chief, which is the most honorary position on the shield. The chief is yellow for cavalry; the saltier, symbol for the Civil War, is gray to indicate Confederate service. The motto "Seize the Opportunity," taken from the coat of arms of the former 123d Cavalry, implies the tenor of the feats performed by Morgan and his "Raiders" during the Civil War.

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

The distinctive unit insignia is the shield and motto of the coat of arms.

LINEAGE AND HONORS

LINEAGE

ARNG
(Kentucky)

Constituted 22 May 1846 in the Kentucky Militia as the 1st Kentucky Cavalry and the 2d Kentucky Volunteer Infantry. Organized from volunteers of the enrolled militia, principally from counties in central Kentucky, and mustered into Federal service 9 June 1846 at Louisville; mustered out of Federal service 7 and 9 June

1847, respectively, at New Orleans, Louisiana, and continued in state service as separate volunteer militia companies. Reorganized 15 June 1860 in the Kentucky State Guard as the Lexington Battalion, to include the Lexington Rifles (organized in 1857 by Captain John Hunt Morgan). Expanded 6 November 1860 to form the Lexington Battalion (to include the Lexington Rifles) and the Kentucky River Battalion. Lexington and Kentucky River Battalions broken up in 1861 and their elements reorganized as follows:

Elements with Union sympathy reorganized April-June 1861 primarily as the 1st and 2d Kentucky Volunteer Infantry Regiments. Mustered into Federal service 4 and 13 June 1861, respectively, at Camp Clay, Ohio; mustered out of Federal service 18 and 19 June 1864, respectively, at Covington.

Elements with Confederate sympathy (less Lexington Rifles) reorganized in July 1861 as elements of the 1st Kentucky Brigade (The Orphan Brigade) and mustered into Confederate service at Camp Boone, Tennessee. Surrendered 4 May 1865 at Washington, Georgia.

Lexington Rifles withdrawn 20 September 1861 from the Kentucky State Guard, reorganized as a separate company of cavalry, and mustered into Confederate service at Bowling Green. Consolidated in October 1861 with two other cavalry companies to form Morgan's Squadron, Kentucky Cavalry. Expanded, reorganized, and redesignated in June 1862 as the 2d Kentucky Cavalry Regiment (Morgan's Men). Surrendered 8 May 1865 near Woodstock, Georgia.

Former Lexington and Kentucky River Battalions reorganized 18 May 1881 in the Kentucky State Guard as the 3d Battalion with Headquarters at Lexington. Expanded, reorganized, and redesignated in 1883 as the 2d Regiment of Infantry with Headquarters at Lexington. Mustered into Federal service 14–25 May 1898 at Lexington as the 2d Kentucky Volunteer Infantry; mustered out of Federal service 31 October 1898 at Lexington. Reorganized 24 April 1899 in the Kentucky State Guard as the 1st Regiment of Infantry with Headquarters at Lexington. Redesignated 31 July 1899 as the 2d Regiment of Infantry. (Kentucky State Guard redesignated 19 March 1912 as the Kentucky National Guard.) Mustered into Federal service 25 June 1916 at Fort Thomas, Kentucky; mustered out of Federal service 15 February 1917 at Fort Thomas, Kentucky. Mustered into Federal service 21 April 1917 at Camp Stanley, Kentucky; drafted into Federal service 5 August 1917. Consolidated 1 October 1917 with the 3d Regiment of Infantry (less 3d Battalion) (see ANNEX), reorganized, and redesignated as the 149th Infantry and assigned to the 38th Division. Demobilized in January 1919 at Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky.

Former 2d and 3d Regiments of Infantry reorganized 1920–1921 in the Kentucky National Guard as the 1st Infantry and the 53d and 54th Machine Gun Squadrons (1st Infantry—hereafter separate lineage). 53d and 54th Machine Gun Squadrons consolidated 1 April 1929 to form the 123d Cavalry and assigned to the 22d Cavalry Division; Headquarters Federally recognized at Louisville. Regiment (less 1st and 2d Squadrons) converted and redesignated 1 November 1940 as the 106th Separate Battalion, Coast Artillery, with Headquarters at Frankfort, and relieved from assignment to the 22d Cavalry Division (1st and 2d Squadrons—hereafter separate lineages).

106th Separate Battalion, Coast Artillery, inducted into Federal service 6 January 1941 at home stations. Reorganized and redesignated 14 July 1944 as the 106th Antiaircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion. Inactivated 3 December 1945 at Camp Shanks, New York.

Reorganized and Federally recognized 29 January 1947 in south-central Kentucky as the 623d Field Artillery Battalion with Headquarters at Glasgow. Ordered into active Federal service 23 January 1951 at home stations. Reorganized and redesignated 5 March 1951 as the 623d Armored Field Artillery Battalion. Reorganized and redesignated 10 September 1951 as the 623d Field Artillery Battalion. (623d Field Artillery Battalion [NGUS] organized and Federally recognized 23 January 1953 with Headquarters at Glasgow.) Released 18 March 1955 from active Federal service and reverted to state control; Federal recognition concurrently withdrawn from the 623d Field Artillery Battalion (NGUS). Reorganized and redesignated 1 October 1959 as the 4th Howitzer Battalion, 138th Artillery. Redesignated 1 February 1968 as the 4th Battalion, 138th Artillery.

Reorganized and redesignated 1 May 1969 as the 623d Artillery, a parent regiment under the Combat Arms Regimental System, to consist of the 1st Battalion. Redesignated 1 March 1972 as the 623d Field Artillery. Withdrawn 1 June 1989 from the Combat Arms Regimental System and reorganized under the United States Army Regimental System. (1st Battalion ordered into active Federal service 9 December 1990 at home stations; released 21 May 1991 from active Federal service and reverted to state control.)

ANNEX

Glossary of Lineage Terms

- ACTIVATE. To bring into being or establish a unit that has been constituted. This term is not used when referring to Army National Guard units. (See ORGANIZE.)
- ALLOT. To assign a unit to one of the components of the United States Army. The present components are the Regular Army, the Army National Guard, and the Army Reserve, formerly known as the Organized Reserves and the Organized Reserve Corps. During World War I, units were allotted to the National Army and during World War II to the Army of the United States. Army National Guard units are usually allotted to a particular state or group of states. Except for Army National Guard units, units may be withdrawn from one component and allotted to another. Such changes in allotment, however, do not change the history, lineage, and honors of the units.
- ASSIGN. To make a unit part of a larger organization and place it under that organization's command and control until it is relieved from the assignment. As a rule, only divisional and separate brigade assignments are shown in unit lineages.
- CONSOLIDATE. To merge or combine two or more units into one new unit. The new unit may retain the designation of one of the original units or it may have a new designation, but it inherits the history, lineage, and honors of all the units affected by the merger. In the Army National Guard, personnel of the units are generally combined in the new unit. In the Regular Army and Army Reserve, units are usually consolidated when they are inactive or when only one of the units is active; therefore, personnel and equipment are seldom involved.
- CONSTITUTE. To place the designation of a new unit on the official rolls of the Army.
- CONVERT. To transfer a unit from one branch of the Army to another, for example, from cavalry to field artillery. Such a move always requires a redesignation, with the unit adopting the name of its new branch; however, there is no break in the historical continuity of the unit. If the unit is active, it must also be reorganized under a new table of organization and equipment (TOE).
- DEMOBILIZE. To remove the designation of a unit from the official rolls of the Army. If the unit is active, it must also be inactivated. This term is used in unit lineages only when referring to the period during and immediately after World War I.
- DESIGNATION. The official title of a unit, consisting usually of a number and a name.
- DISBAND. To remove the designation of a unit from the official rolls of the Army. If the unit is active, it must also be inactivated. In the Army National Guard, this term is generally used when referring to the period before World War I.
- ELEMENT. A unit that is assigned to or is part of a larger organization. (See also ORGANIC ELEMENT.)
- FEDERAL RECOGNITION. Acceptance of an Army National Guard unit by the federal government after the unit has been inspected by a federal representative and found to be properly housed, equipped, and organized according to Army requirements. Federal recognition may be withdrawn when the unit no longer meets these requirements or when the need for it no longer exists.

FEDERAL SERVICE. Active duty of an Army National Guard unit while under the control of the United States government, rather than under the control of its home state or territory. Units enter federal service by order of the President of the United States, as authorized by Congress. Units called into federal service could not be sent into a foreign country without specific congressional authorization for most wars prior to World War I. Units were then mustered into federal service. During World War I, they were drafted into federal service, and the phrase inducted into federal service was used during World War II. Since World War II, the phrase ordered into active federal service has been used. A unit remains in federal service until released by the federal government, at which time it reverts to the control of its home state or territory.

INACTIVATE. To place a unit that is not currently needed in an inoperative status without assigned personnel or equipment. When referring to the Army National Guard, this term is used only during and immediately after World War II for units in federal service. Such units were retained on the rolls of the Army, and many were reorganized in their home states.

NATIONAL GUARD OF THE UNITED STATES (NGUS). As used in this volume, an NGUS unit was a temporary organization within a state that took the place of a unit in federal service during the Korean War. It usually had the same designation and was organized in the same general area as the replaced unit.

ORDER INTO ACTIVE MILITARY SERVICE. To place an Army Reserve unit on full-time active duty, usually during a war or a major crisis, such as the Berlin crisis of 1961–1962. After completing its active duty, the unit may be inactivated or may be released from active military service, reverting to reserve status. The phrase does not apply to Army Reserve units on annual active-duty training.

ORGANIC ELEMENT. A unit that is an integral part of a larger organization, for example, a lettered battery of a battalion or regiment.

ORGANIZE. To assign personnel and equipment to a unit and make it operable, that is, capable of performing its mission. For Army National Guard units, this term is used instead of Activate (see above).

RECONSTITUTE. To restore to the official rolls of the Army a unit that has been disbanded or demobilized. The reconstituted unit may have a new designation, but it retains its former history, lineage, and honors.

REDESIGNATE. To change a unit's official name or number or both. Redesignation is a change of title only; the unit's history, lineage, and honors remain the same.

REORGANIZE. To change the structure of a unit in accordance with a new table of organization and equipment (TOE), or to change from one type of unit to another within the same branch of the Army, for example, from an 8-inch howitzer battalion to a missile battalion. (See also CONVERT for reorganizations involving a new branch.) When referring to the Army National Guard, the term also means to organize an inactive unit again.
