3d U.S. INFANTRY REGIMENT

The Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps

The musicians of The United States Army Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps recall the days of the American Revolution, America's Founding Ideals and Values, and the patriotism of the first generation of Americans as they perform on 10-hole wooden fifes, handmade rope-tensioned drums, and single-valve bugles. The Corps is visually distinctive as well performing in red regimental coats, black tricorn hats, and white wigs patterned after those worn by the musicians of General George Washington's Continental Army.

3d U.S. INFANTRY REGIMENT

The Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps

The U.S. Army Drill Team

The U.S. Army Drill Team is a precision drill platoon with the primary mission of showcasing the U.S. Army both nationally and internationally through breathtaking routines with bayonet-tipped 1903 Springfield rifles. Through their daring and complex performances, the U.S. Army Drill Team acts as “good-will ambassadors” for the Army, supporting community relations and recruiting efforts on behalf of U.S. Army.

3d U.S. INFANTRY REGIMENT

The Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps

The U.S. Army Drill Team

Commander-in-Chief's Guard

In 1776, Gen. George Washington issued an order to select exemplary men for his personal guard. This unit became the Commander-in-Chief's Guard. The color team bears a duplicate of the flag Washington's headquarters carried throughout the Revolutionary War. Members also appear at different times in other historically accurate uniforms once worn by Soldiers. The "tab actors" help to portray to the public the contributions America's Army has made.

Commander-in-Chief's Guard

Continental Color Guard

The Continental Color Guard's mission is to showcase the U.S. Army's precision nationally and internationally. With a heritage tracing back to the early days of our nation, the Continental Color Guard is the 3d Infantry tradition. A contemporary description states that the purpose of the unit was to recall to mind every member of the 3d Infantry, the long and honorable history of the regiment from a period which followed closely upon the Revolutionary War.
