Honorable Albert Gore, House of Representatives.

My dear Mr. Gore:

Receipt is acknowled, ed of your letter, March 20, 1942, inclosing copy of a letter from Miss Martha Campbell, Lebanon, Tennessee, regarding the naming of the new Army camp on the Kentucky-Tennessee line after her grandfather, the late Governor William Bowen Campbell.

The idea of naming this camp in honor of the late Governor William Bowen Campbell originated in the Historical Section of the Army War College, and this name was chosen because of the distinguished service rendered by Governor Campbell as a soldier and statesman,

Very respectfully,

X. A. ULIO

Major Ceneral E. S. Adams, The Adjutant General, War Department, Washington, D. C.

Dear General Adams:

At the present time a survey is being carried on in the counties of Trigg and Christian in Kentucky and Montgomery and Stewart in Tennessee with the possibility of the establishment of an armored division. I wish to suggest that if and when this camp does become a reality it be named Camp Henry C. Burnett.

Henry C. Burnett was a very illustrious son of Kentucky who served in Congress until December 3, 1861, at which time he was expelled from Congress because of his attitude in the Civil War. Expulsion, as you know, meant nothing more than resignation. Immediately upon his severance from this office he became a Colonel in the Eighth Regiment Kentucky Infantry in the Confederate Army, serving through the Civil War. He was a Representative from Kentucky to the Provisional Confederate Congress from November 18, 1861, to February 17, 1862. He was elected as a Senatorfrom Kentucky to the First and Second Confederate Congresses, and served from February 19,1862, to February 18, 1865. He is now buried in Trigg County, which County is one of the involved counties.

At the time of his military service and due to the fact that Kentucky was endeavoring to maintain a position of neutrality he crossed the line into Tennessee and organized a camp for the purpose of training men for the Confederate Army. That camp was called Camp Burnett and was located at the site of the proposed campun

* With this history the thought occurs to me that the naming of the new camp for him would be quite appropriate.

I would appreciate your reaction to my suggestion.

Sincerely yours, 57 16 1941 Noble Gregory J. MISCL. DIV. A. G. O.

Dear General Adams:

As you possibly recall I wrote you on October 15th, suggesting that the Army camp located on the Kentucky-Tennessee line, comprising the Counties of Christian and Trigg in Kentucky and Montgomery and Stewart in Tennessee, be named for that outstanding citizen, public servant and soldier, Colonel Henry C. Burnett.

As indicated by me and as the records will disclose, Colonel Burnett organized a camp on the same site at the time of the Civil Mar.

I think it would be entirely appropriate in view of the local atmosphere that this camp be named Camp Henry C. Burnett and would appreciate at this time your favorable consideration of this suggestion.

Thanking you for your reaction to my suggestion, I am

Mrs. W. S. Swann, President, Kentucky Division, U. D. C., 703 Main Street, Murray, Kentucky

Dear Mrs. Swann:

2 1 Raibs-10-42

Reference is made to your letter of February 2, 1942, addressed to the Quartermaster General, requesting that the cantonment to be constructed at Hopkinsville, Kentucky-Clarksville, Tennessee Area, be named "Camp Surnett" in honor of Henry C. Surnett, who formerly served as United States Senator and in the Confederate Congress.

The interest of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in this matter is deeply appreciated, however, the maning of camps is not a function of this office, but these names are selected either by the Secretary of War or Chief of Staff in collaboration with Corps Area Commanders, after a survey of the desires of the local residents.

I have transmitted your communication to the Secretary of Mar for proper action.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

First let me say that your statement before the Foreign Affairs Committee on Tuesday, February 3, 19h2, concerning H. R. Res. 276 was the most complete and inspiring testimony I have had the honor to hear since I have been a Member of Congress. I know you are gratified in the way the House received this legislation.

Another matter which I want to call to your attention is the selection of a name for the army camp now being constructed on the Kentucky-Tennessee line, comprising the Counties of Christian and Trigg in Kentucky and Montgomery and Stewart in Tennessee. It has been very appropriately suggested that this camp be named for Colonel Henry C. Burnett, an illustrious son of Kentucky who served with distinction in various capacities in public life, including service in the House of Representatives, and also as a valiant soldier in the Civil War.

Attached hereto is a brief statement covering the life of Colonel Burnett and I will deeply appreciate it if you will give consideration to this request.

Thanking you for your consideration, I am

Sincerely yours, Accepted Noble, J. Gregory

Dear General Adams:

Under date of October 15, 1941, I addressed a communication to you suggesting that the new army camp in the area of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, be named for Colonel Henry C. Burnett. You replied under date of October 21st advising me that the name would be given consideration. I addressed another communication to you under date of January 13, 1942, reminding you of my previous suggestion, and learned yesterday from unofficial sources that it would be named Camp Campbell.

It would be appreciated if you would advise me as to the reasons for assigning this name to this camp and if consistent with your policies, I would like for you to give me the names of the individuals charged with the responsibility of this decision.

That a reply be addressed to Congressman Gregory substantially as follows:

Further inquiry into the matter of naming the camp located beaction takentween Hopkinsville, Kentucky and Clarksville, Tennessee, indicates that light 2-26.4% a final choice was made from a list of six distinguished persons from the Kentucky-Tennessee region. Included was the name of Colonel Henry C. Burnett. Upon careful consideration and in view of the fact that the great bulk of the camp site lies in Tennessee, General Campbell's name was chosen.

The responsibility for the naming of military posts rests upon the Secretary of War.
